[For the Louisville Journal.] IDREAM OF HOME. I only see through blinding tears
The wild vines' round the door way clinging.

An dever in my weary years
The wild-birds' songs are ringing. In the still watches of the night Soft sleep to my scaled eyes discloses, The Eden of my young delight Embowered amid its roses.

Once more in the old-home I stand And see those dear familiar faces, The pressure of my mother's hand, I feel her warm embraces.

Beside the softly flowing rill
I see my little brothers playing.
And o'er the green and sleeping hill
My sweet voiced sisters straying.

With those dear-loved ones, hand in hand, I wander through the mountain passes, Or pausing, twine with careless hand A wreath of flowers and grasses. i muse beside the flowing rill.

Upon its violet banks reclining. Or climb, at twilight's hush, the hill To watch the Sun's declining. Beside my vine-clad casement sat I touch the harp with skillful fingers,

Or watch the western hills where yet The fading sun-light Hingers. The verdant lawns, the tranquil lake

I see in soft-st moonlight sleeping, The vision vanishes—I wake To pass the a ght in weeping. HANNAH M. DIETZ,

Condition of Negroes in Africa.

We have recently read a letter from an officer on board the United States sloop of-war St. Louis, dated at "Little Fish Bay, West coast of Africa," which gives anything but a specific state of the coast of Africa, which gives anything but a specific state of the coast of Africa, the favorable account of the condition of the Passengers by this train can come from St. Louis, Cinciananegroes in their own country:

"Niggers! slaves! niggers!" is the cry. This town is like most other places upon the coast, made up of a few people, called white, and a crowd, a mass of miserable, filthy, worrhless, indolent (niggers) natives. If any sensible man, wishes, or is willing to be cured of his mock philanthrophy and sickly sentimentality in regard to the universal negro race, he has only to take a six months cruise upon the coast of Africa. If that will not cure him, and convince him that his sympathy for our sasville. three and a half millions of the happiest negroes upon the face of the earth is misplaced. then I have only to say, he is past hope and

I do not believe there is one negro in one NEW ARRANGEMENT thousand upon the coast of Africa, who is as well off, morally, physically or socially, as the worst abused slaves in the United States.—
Slavery here is slavery indeed, and of the most horrible kind. Cruelty practiced here most horrible kind. Cruelty practiced here by black slave owners, is heart-rending to witness. Some chiefs (black) own thousands- | care taken in the collection of they sell, torture, or kill them, at pleasure .-Ninety-mine out of every hundred negroes, slaves or free, even in towns, would gladly exchange their condition with the meanest, most ill-treated slave in the Union. It is imthe native African upon his own soil. Civilthe native African upon his own soil. Civilization, or even partial culture, with the mass of natives, is an idea so perfectly absurd, that it does not admit of a thought. The combined efforts of a million competent, honest, industrious, persevering philanthropis's; with millions, of money yearly expended to the best possible advantage for a million of years, would not develope one hundred native Africans who would be of any acount to the world at large. So much for "niggers."
